With tradition and quality ... just like your neighborhood deli

The consumer shift toward all natural, artisan foods just keeps growing. Kettle cooked chips are part of that shift and their popularity is still on the rise. The kettle cooked chip category has grown 42% during the last four years, and today these chips go far beyond a simple side item, featuring trendy ingredients such as sea salt, jalapeños, cheddar cheese and BBQ seasoning.*

Product Inspiration

The hearty deli lunch and the gourmet burger – both deserve better than a standard, mass-produced potato chip by their side. These Metro Deli® Kettle Cooked Potato Chips are small-batch cooked using thick cut, premium, American-grown potatoes. They look like you might have made them yourself in back of house. We offer them in the three most popular flavors: classic Original with Sea Salt, fresh-tasting Jalapeño Cheddar and savory Hickory Barbeque. Each is made with all natural ingredients and contains zero trans fats.

Food Fact

In England, potato chips are called “crisps” and what we call “fries” are called “chips” (as in “Fish & Chips”).
